

ABSTRACT OF DISCLOSURE

A wall-mountable aquarium has a slim tank for containing water to keep living aquatic animals or plants. The tank 5 includes a transparent front wall, a rear wall, opposite left and right side walls and a bottom wall, with the side and bottom walls being considerably narrower than the front and rear walls. A fixed enclosure is provided externally on at least one of the left and right side 10 walls and bottom wall for containing part of accessory for the aquarium. A frame is attached on the front wall, which conceals the enclosure from direct sight from the front and includes a see-through portion therein to reveal only the living habitat inside the tank through the front wall.